

Christine DENERIAZ is appointed Director, Environment, at Eurovia

March 29, 2011

Christine DENERIAZ joined Eurovia on February 15, 2011 as the Director, Environment.

Ms. DENERIAZ holds a degree in Engineering from Ecole de Géologie de Nancy and a DESS in Management. In 1990, she joined Cochery Bourdin Chaussé, where she held the positions of Environmental Manager in 1994 and 1995 and Technical Director at Eurovia's southeastern delegation in France until 1999. In 2000, she became a Consultant in road industry techniques, environmental initiatives, and sustainable development.

As part of Eurovia's Technical Resources Directorate – under the management of Michel DUCASSE – the Environment Department is responsible for deploying the Company's environmental policy as well as ensuring the transfer knowledge internally and the development of solutions and tools designed to address environment-related issues.

Eurovia, a subsidiary of the VINCI Group, is a leader in Europe in the construction, upgrade, and maintenance of road and rail infrastructure. The Company operates in 17 countries, employs 40,000 people, and achieved revenues of €7.9 billion in 2010.
